

Dear voter

Pat has become well known as the Granny Who Eats Cannabis!

She is concerned that people should be allowed to cultivate their own cannabis as medicine for the treatment of painful degenerative conditions such as arthritis and Multiple Sclerosis and has campaigned for the use of cannabis as an alternative to the sometimes unpleasant side effects suffered from conventional medicines prescribed for depression and pain.

Pat first experienced cannabis when a neighbour offered her a joint while in a state of deep despair. She was amazed at the positive results and subsequently found that a small amounts of cannabis bud taken daily relieved her painful symptoms and enabled her to lead an active life.

Pat has lived an active life as a nurse, chef and welfare worker. She lived in Swansea for a number of years with her late husband who was Welsh and in addition to campaigning for greater knowledge of the benefits of cannabis she is writing her life story. She also writes children's stories and poetry. She has appeared on the Richard and Judy Show and on the Trisha Show and a television company has approached her about making a documentary about her life. Some of her recipes have been published in the Guardian newspaper.

She has two children and two grandchildren.

A vote for Pat will ensure that medical cannabis is seen as a major issue.

Pat is not seeking to encourage the illegal use of cannabis.
